

Platform for Advancement of Self

- Enhance students awareness of their strengths and weaknesses
- Support students to develop competencies to cope with difficulties they face with learning or any other situations in the University in more effective ways.

Pas Project

 To identify the psychological variables contributing to students learning, motivation and pace of study.

1st Year Students - University of loannina

- University of Turin

- University of Antwerp Online Platform

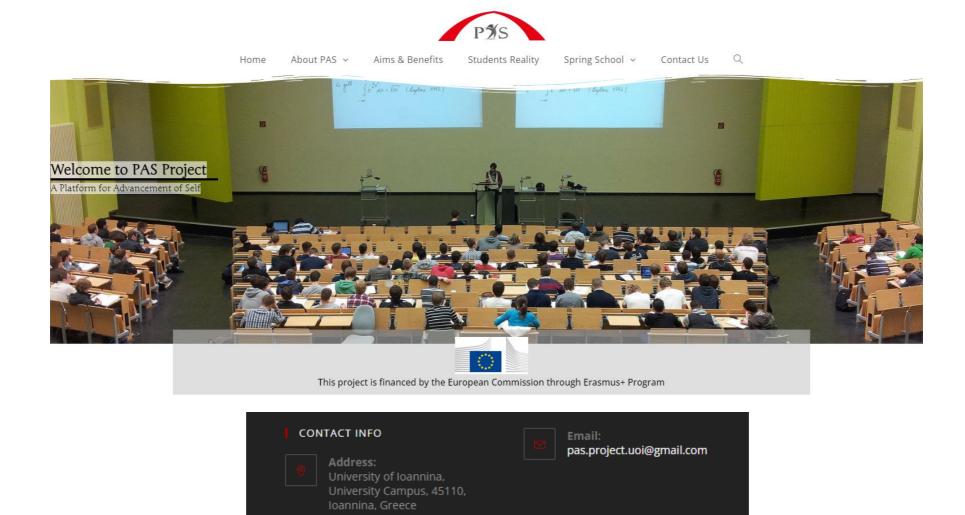

- Support teachers to 'tolerate' students' difficulties by providing guidelines that give a direction to the way they go about enhancing students' learning and development through increasing selfawareness.
- Tutors get guidelines and tips for support to students on the basis of students' scores on the questionnaire

Academic Tutors

- To prevent dropping out in Higher Education.
- Students fill in a short online questionnaire including questions for learning and psychological variables.
- Students get feedback on their scores on each of the variables.
 Also, guidance and sources for support are provided
